DURING THE 2019 HIGH HOLYDAYS

We will zoom in on the role of women in changing the reality of conflict and creating an environment of peace.

We'll explore the causes of war from a feminist perspective and dig deep into the Biblical roots of the "demographic threat" perception and patriarchy.

Then we'll learn how these painful wounds can be, and are being, addressed and healed by a rising movement of feminine social, political and spiritual leadership.

We'll end the evening with song and prayer.

Dahlia is a student rabbi, a previous research director from the Peres Centre for Peace, with an LL.B in Law (Hebrew University) and a Masters in International Political Economy (Tufts University, Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, USA).
